A quick guide to the main beer styles:

Lager Fermented and conditioned slowly at low temperatures, it often settles to the bottom of the vessel in a process known as "bottom fermenting". The result is a full bodied, mellow beer that is crisp and refreshing with far less fruit flavours than ale.

Ale This style of beer production has existed for 1000's of years. Fermented at warmer temperatures of between 21-70°C using "top fermenting" yeasts and a short maturation period. Robust, aromatic and fruity in style.

Blonde Ale Typically fermented and aged at ale temperatures, and sometimes filtered or cold stored for a period to enhance clarity. Fresh and crisp with medium-light bitterness and some sweet malty nuances.

IPA IPAs vary greatly but are most often still hoppy with some citrus fruit undertones. Legend says the name "Indian Pale Ale" takes its roots from British Colonial times, where it denoted a style of beer made from pale malt. They were very hoppy with lots of natural preservatives and could withstand long voyages, such as those to India.

Red Ale A bit sweet, with a lightly hopped tea-like flavour, and viscous body. Irish Red Ales are easy to please. Look for well-rounded and balanced flavours, and a pleasant toasted malt character in many examples. A drying finish is common.

Pilsner The Czech Pilsner, or sometimes known as the Bohemian Pilsner, is light straw to golden colour with no sediment. Many believe the city of Pils to be where the first Lager was discovered.

Porter Made with dark malted barley, a good amount of hops, and top-fermenting ale yeasts. The end result is usually a dark medium-bodied beer with a nice balance of malty sweetness and bitter hoppiness.

Stout A dark beer made using roasted malt or roasted barley, hops, water and yeast. Stouts were traditionally the generic term for the strongest or 'stoutest' porters.

IRISH WHISKEYS

Single Pot Still Irish Whiskey - A style of whiskey exclusive to Ireland, distilled using a mash of malted and unmalted barley. It was first created in order to avoid paying a tax imposed by the British monarchy on malted barley however, today, this tradition is preserved in order to produce a wonderfully creamy mouthfeel and spicy, orchard fruit flavour.

Powers Three Swallow Single Pot Still

Bananas, toasty oak, juicy tropical fruits flavours with spices and raisins.

€5.95

Paddy Centenary 7 Year Old Single Pot Still

Lively with a classic pot still prickle. Flavours of dried oranges, cloves, dried raisins with some oily pot still character.

€10.95

Powers Signature Release Single Pot Still

Sweet and vibrantly fruity. Lots of spicy, toasty oak and some tannic bitterness.

€6.95

Midleton Barry Crockett Single Pot Still

Aged in mostly 1st fill bourbon casks, as well as a little virgin American oak. Truly exquisite!

€24.95

Powers 12 Year-Old John's Lane Reserve Single Pot Still

Crisp and mouth-watering with spice, bittersweet fruit, and toffee apples

€7.50

Midleton Dair Ghaelach Single Pot Still

These whiskeys are the first ever to be finished in virgin Irish oak Hogsheads. The oak in this range originates from Ballaghtobin Estate, Co. Kilkenny.

€29.95

Redbreast Lustau Single Pot Still

A unique collaboration between the beloved Midleton distillery, Co. Cork and prestigious Bodegas Lustau in Jerez, Spain. The brand's first Non Age Statement pot still whiskey.

€10.95

The second range in Midleton's virgin Irish Oak series. This edition comes to us from the Bluebell Forest of Castle Blunden Estate in County Kilkenny.

€37.95

Redbreast 12 Year-Old Single Pot Still

Rich and oily on the palate. Flavours of dried fruits, roasted nuts and exotic spices.

€7.50

Redbreast 12 Year Old Cask Strength

One of the most favourably received of the Redbreast series winning many prestigious awards. Most of the maturation is done in sherry casks but with careful selection so that the sherry character does not overpower the whiskey.

€12.95

Redbreast 15 Year-Old Single Pot Still

Complex with rich dried fruits, roasted nuts, orange peel, spices and chocolate.

€14.95

Midleton 25 Year Old Pure Pot Still

Reputed to be one of the best Irish whiskeys ever bottled. This is a pure (single) pot still whiskey that was distilled at the old Midleton plant in 1973 and bottled in the late 1990.

2cl €59.95

3.5cl €99.95

Redbreast 21 Year-Old Single Pot Still
